Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 25 August 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to the applicant's argument that Nakanishi fails to disclose side wrapping elements attached to the garment-facing surface of the article such that they are pre-positioned in an in-use position, it is noted that the in-use position of the side wrapping elements is folded away from the body-facing surface of the article. While the article is in use, the side wrapping elements are folded away from the body-facing surface and toward the garment-facing surface. Nakanishi shows in figure 1B the article in its pre-positioned form, prior to use. The side wrapping elements are folded away from the body-facing surface of the article. It is the adhesive attachment of the side wrapping elements to the garment-facing surface of the article that creates the structure in which the side wrapping elements are pre-positioned in an in-use position. Therefore, Nakanishi discloses all limitations of the instant claim.

It is further noted that while the side wrapping elements of Nakanishi must be manipulated during the application of the article to an undergarment, the instant claim is drawn to the article itself, not the method of applying the article. Nakanishi discloses all structural limitations of the instant claim, and therefore the rejection stands.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3761

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nakanishi et al. (5,201,727).

Nakanishi discloses an absorbent article, as shown in figure 2, for wear in an undergarment, as described in column 1, lines 5-10. The article has a longitudinal axis and a transverse axis, and comprises a main body portion 1 having a wearer facing surface 2 and a garment facing surface 3. Side wrapping elements 5 extend laterally from the main body portion 1 and are integral with the main body portion 1, as shown in figure 1b. The side wrapping elements 5 are folded along fold lines and attached to the garment facing side 3 of the main body portion 1 adhering adhesive portions 6 and 7, as shown in figures 1a and 1b, and disclosed in column 5, lines 65-68.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
